

For Hospitality Food and Beverage Management

Overview

NetMenu® is a web-based food service management tool for multi-unit food and beverage operations. It is designed to support a centralized database approach, simplifying tasks across multiple properties. Advanced food production controls reduce waste, enhance quality, and improve margins across the enterprise. Use NetMenu to access your corporate database of recipes and menus, while providing property-specific data for recipe and menu costing. Let NetMenu do the work of figuring food and beverage costs, sales margins, and production needs.

How Does it Work?

NetMenu is a flexible tool, allowing each property to create local recipes based on the corporate database, make locally appropriate decisions, and respond to local demands. It also helps managers make more-informed decisions and get better results, displaying costs and sell prices during menu planning.

By having your corporate recipes and menus immediately available to each property, you eliminate the need for duplicate data entry. Each site can create its own or modify existing corporate recipes and menus to accommodate local variations and property-specific items. The same recipe or menu will have property-specific costing and margins, which help managers and chefs make timely, informed decisions based on regional and local ingredient costs.

NetMenu provides menu planning tools, reports on cost/margin, production reports, and nutritional information. Generate a shopping list and purchase requirements from your forecasted menus, keep track of inventory for each area on property, and interface with your national suppliers and local vendors for accurate costing.
